More African Missions This Last Month!

We have completed 2 more African missions in this last month, one in Nigeria and one in Kenya. More Africans have heard the gospel, more widows have received food, and more men, women, and children have had free access to medical screening and medications. Sometimes people ask us why we do African missions when America has plenty of sinners we could preach to. There are three reasons for this:

First: God has called us to minister to the Africans. We have no choice about this. We must follow the leading of the great Head of the church, our Lord Jesus.

Second: Africans are far more open to evangelism than Americans. We can put out posters on the streets and the Africans will come, and many will respond freely to the gospel invitations. Attempting the same approach in America would normally not yield those results.

Third: Many Africans are very poor and live in constant and desperate need. But in America we have so much! A free medical clinic would mean very little to Americans. Gathering widows to a Christian meeting and giving them food would not impress them much. But many Africans live in a state of near-starvation. Their appreciation for the food and medical services we provide them is heart-felt and enthusiastic!
